KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

As an ICE observer

You have the right to observe and film law enforcement in public.

Stay on public property (sidewalks, streets, parks). If you are on private property (parking lot) and asked to leave by the business (not by ICE), move to a public space nearby.

Record clearly. Narrate the time, place, and what you see. It is best to keep filming one video if possible.

You have the right to ask law enforcement:

- Are you conducting immigration enforcement?
- Do you have a judicial warrant?
- What is your name and badge number?
- Are you detaining anyone? On what basis?

Reminders for you:

- Stay calm. Film everything.
- Don't argue. Don't engage beyond what's needed to assert rights.
- Your role is documentation, not intervention.
- Record clearly, focusing on the agents and NOT the targeted folks/arrestees. If possible, keep your video going without pauses, as it will better hold up as legal evidence.
- If unsafe, fall back and observe from a distance.
- SALUTE: When reporting or signal boosting potential threats, provide as much information as possible! Include Size, Activity, Location, Uniform, Time, & Equipment.
